Undergraduate degrees (Bachelor)

Most undergraduate degrees in the UK are three years long. However, if you want to study for a sandwich year or spend a year abroad, your degree may be four years. Degrees in Medicine usually take five years. You will normally start each year of your undergraduate degree in October and finish the following June for a summer vacation.

The tables on pages 22-23 are a guide to tuition fees, academic and IELTS entry requirements. Please check our website for up-to-date information (www.sussex.ac.uk/ugstudy). The academic entry requirements refer to a typical UK A level offer.

To find out if your school results are equivalent to UK A levels, visit our world map at www. sussex.ac.uk/international Alternatively, you can email study@sussex.ac.uk and our student advisors will be happy to help.

Degree profile

BA International Relations

Our BA in International Relations combines approaches from history,
political science, sociology,
law and economics to analyse worldwide social, economic and political processes. Key themes include war and peace, development, international inequality, globalisation and global governance.

The degree is taught by our Department of International Relations, which:

- is one of the UK's oldest departments dedicated to international relations;
- scored 23 out of 24 in the national QAA teaching quality assessment;
- was awarded maximum points for teaching quality in the Times Good University Guide 2007;
- welcomes students from over 20 countries.

This degree may be attractive if you want to work in:

- government foreign ministries
- the United Nations
- the European Union
- non-governmental organisations (NGOs)
- multinational corporations
- media or journalism
- international development.
