

You should read this information form if you are one of the following:

- outside Australia and intend to apply for a visa to study in Australia
- a student visa holder in Australia intending to enrol in a course of study
- a student visa holder intending to apply for permission to work
- a student visa holder intending to change from one education sector to another
- a visitor, working holiday-maker or other temporary visa holder intending to extend your stay in Australia to undertake full-time study in a registered course.

Student visas – general information

The Student (Temporary) (Class TU) visa comprises 8 subclasses. Subclasses 570–576 are based on the education sector of your main course.

The subclasses and the prescribed courses for each subclass are:

- Independent ELICOS (English Language Intensive Courses for Overseas Students) (Subclass 570)
ELICOS (non-award and Certificate I–IV) as a stand-alone course.
Students undertaking ELICOS as a pre-requisite to another course must apply for a visa under the subclass appropriate to the main course.
- Schools (Subclass 571)
Primary school; secondary school including junior and senior secondary; approved secondary exchange programs.
- Vocational education and training (VET) (Subclass 572)
Certificate I, II, III, and IV; VET diploma; VET advanced diploma.
- Higher education (HE) (Subclass 573)
Bachelor degree; associate degree; graduate certificate; graduate diploma; HE diploma; HE advanced diploma; masters by coursework.
- Postgraduate research (Subclass 574)
Masters by research degree; Doctoral degree.
- Non-award (Subclass 575)
Enabling course; non-award foundation studies; other full-time courses or components of courses not leading to an Australian award.
- AusAID or Defence (Subclass 576)
Full-time courses of all types undertaken by AusAID or Defence students sponsored by the Australian Government.

A further subclass of student visa, the Student Guardian (Subclass 580) visa, provides for certain persons to reside with a student in Australia, where that student requires a guardian. Applications for student guardian visas should be made on form 157G Application for a student guardian visa. Further information on applying for a student guardian visa can be found in the information sheet Applying for a student guardian visa and on the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department) website.

See: www.immi.gov.au/allforms/

Applying online

The department offers a number of convenient internet services for student visa applicants. More information is available from the department's website.

See: www.immi.gov.au/e-visa/students.htm

Please: If your application is exempt from a visa application charge (VAC), you will not be able to lodge your visa application online.

For general information on lodging your visa application, refer to How to lodge your application on page 4.

Package courses

If you want to apply for a package of courses comprising an enabling course (for example, a prerequisite English language tuition, foundation or bridging course) followed by the main course (for example, a Bachelor degree), you must provide evidence of your enrolment in your enabling course, plus letters of offer of a place from the relevant education providers for the other courses in your package. You will be assessed under the visa subclass applicable to the principal course, and at the highest assessment level of the courses in your nominated package (with the exception of any ELICOS course within the package).

You can be granted a student visa to cover the total of the proposed package only if you provide confirmation of enrolment for all courses. You may also be eligible for streamlined visa processing. For additional information, refer to Requirements for the grant of a Student (Subclass 570-576) visa and Offer of a place in a course and confirmation of enrolment on page 2.

Detailed information on applying for and being granted a student visa is available on the department's website.

See: www.immi.gov.au/students

Acceptable courses

To be eligible for the grant of a student (Subclass 570–576) visa, you must be accepted for full-time study in a registered course or part of a registered course.

Acceptance for full-time study is evidenced by an electronic confirmation of enrolment certificate or an 'offer of a place in a course' letter issued by the registered provider offering you a place, refer to Offer of a place in a course and confirmation of enrolment on page 2. If you are sponsored by AusAID or Defence, a letter from these agencies indicating their support of your study in Australia is required. If you are a secondary school exchange student, you must provide a completed Acceptance Advice of Secondary Exchange Student (AASES) form.

A registered course is an education or training course offered by an Australian education provider registered on the Commonwealth Register of Institutions and Courses for Overseas Students (CRICOS) to offer courses to overseas students. Details of registered courses and education providers are available on the internet.

See: <http://cricos.deewr.gov.au>

If you are sponsored by AusAID or Defence, or are a secondary school exchange student, you are not required to enrol in a registered course in order to be granted a student visa.

However, you must be enrolled in a full-time course of study or training.

Requirements for the grant of a Student (Subclass 570–576) visa

To be granted a student (Subclass 570–576) visa, you must meet key requirements. These include a genuine temporary entrant requirement, your financial capacity, English language proficiency, likely compliance with the conditions of your visa and any other matters considered relevant to assessing your application.

A student visa application will be assessed against one of the following:

- one of five assessment levels for each visa subclass
- the streamlined visa processing requirements if you are an eligible student.

Assessment levels are prescribed according to the passport you hold and the education sector of your course. Assessment Level 5 has the most stringent requirements.

See: www.immi.gov.au/students/

To be eligible for streamlined visa processing, you must provide evidence of your confirmation of enrolment for an eligible course from a participating university at the time that you lodge your application. Eligible courses include Bachelor, Masters and Doctoral degrees.

See: www.immi.gov.au/students/

To be granted a student visa, you must also satisfy the general requirements that are applicable to all student visa applicants. General requirements include you being of good character and sound health, and having acceptable health insurance and no outstanding debts to the Commonwealth of Australia.

Genuine Temporary Entrant requirement

Factors considered under this requirement include:

- your personal circumstances such as your potential circumstances in Australia and personal or financial commitments that may provide an incentive for you to return home
- your immigration history such as previous compliance with immigration laws
- if you are a minor, the intentions of your parent, legal guardian or spouse will also be considered.

Evidentiary requirements

Key requirements include:

- Your capacity to cover the cost of air fares, course tuition fees and living costs for the duration of your stay in Australia. Your living costs in Australia are set at AUD18 610 pa. The period for which you must provide evidence of funds, the type of funds considered acceptable, and the savings period for funds may vary with your assessment level and education sector of study. Living costs are a minimum amount set for visa purposes. Living costs vary depending on where you will be living and studying. It is your responsibility to determine what your own costs will be to live and study in Australia. Even if you have permission to work you should not rely on work to support yourself in Australia as a student.
- Your capacity to cover the cost of air fares, living costs and school tuition costs for your family unit members for the duration of your stay in Australia. Living costs for family members are set at AUD6515 for your partner, AUD3720 for your first child and AUD2790 for each child thereafter. School costs are set at AUD8000 pa. Except in very limited circumstances, you are required to provide this evidence regardless of whether your family members intend to accompany you to Australia.

- Demonstrating and/or providing evidence in your application that the funds you are relying on will genuinely be available to you during your stay in Australia.
- Your level of English language proficiency in relation to that required for your assessment level and education sector of study. Where an English language test result is required, it must be a 'specified English language test' and you should have the results of this test before making your visa application.
- your academic record and qualifications completed.

Detailed information on requirements can be found on the department's website.

General requirements

General requirements you must meet include that:

- You are of good character.
- You are of sound health.
- You have acceptable health insurance through the Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC) for yourself and members of your family unit accompanying you to Australia. Refer to OSHC on page 5.
- You have no outstanding debts to the Commonwealth of Australia, or have made arrangements acceptable to the Minister to repay such debts.
- Where you are under 18 years of age, acceptable arrangements for your accommodation, support and general welfare are in place.
- If you are in Assessment Level 2, 3, 4 or 5, do not hold a student visa and are applying in Australia, you must provide exceptional reasons to justify the grant of your visa.

Offer of a place in a course and confirmation of enrolment

If you are lodging a paper application you should provide either an electronic confirmation of enrolment certificate or an 'offer of a place in a course' letter from your Australian education provider when you lodge your application.

However, even if an 'offer of a place in a course' letter has been provided to lodge your application, an electronic confirmation of enrolment certificate is usually required before a student visa can be granted. Exceptions to this include, but are not limited to the following:

- AusAID/Defence scholarship recipients
- Secondary exchange students
- Postgraduate research students on a subclass 574 student visa while their thesis is being marked.

This is because these students provide other forms of evidence of enrolment. To confirm whether you need to provide an electronic confirmation of enrolment certificate, you may contact the department.

See: www.immi.gov.au/contacts/

If you are applying using the department's online lodgement facility, eVisa, you will need your electronic confirmation of enrolment certificate to lodge your application.

To be eligible for streamlined visa processing, you must provide a confirmation of enrolment for full-time study in an eligible course at a participating university when you lodge your application. If you package your courses, you must provide your confirmation of enrolment in an approved enabling course and the eligible course in your package at the time when you lodge your application.

An approved enabling course must be provided by an education business partner nominated by your university, that is, your main course provider. Your university will be able to provide you with details of their nominated education business partners.

Student visa conditions

If you are issued a student visa, some conditions will be attached to the grant of the visa. The most common conditions are:

- You must satisfy attendance and/or course progress requirements and maintain a valid enrolment for your chosen course of study.
- You and members of your family unit must not work unless you have been granted permission to work as part of your initial visa grant and you have commenced your course of study in Australia.
- You must maintain your approved Overseas Student Health Cover while in Australia.
- If you are an Assessment Level 3, 4 or 5 student whose overall intended period of study is 10 months or less, you will usually be subject to a 'no further stay' condition. This means that after entering Australia, you may not be granted any other visa while you remain in Australia, other than a further student visa with permission to work, or a Graduate – Skilled visa¹. You may be exempt from the mandatory imposition of the 'no further stay' condition if you are an Assessment Level 3 student and can show funds to cover specified tuition, living and school costs for a 12 month period in addition to the period of your intended study in Australia (for further information, see the department's website).
- A 'no further stay' condition may also be imposed on your visa, regardless of your assessment level or period of study, if the decision maker considers this appropriate.
- If you are sponsored by the Commonwealth of Australia or the government of your home country, you may be subject to a 'no further stay' condition. This means that after entering Australia, you will not be entitled to be granted any other visa while you remain in Australia apart from a further Student visa with Permission to Work, or a further student visa with the consent of your sponsor¹.
- You must inform your education provider within 7 days of your arrival in Australia of your current residential address and must advise them any changes of address within 7 days. Your provider is required by law to keep your residential address so you can be contacted if you do not satisfy course requirements. If you do not abide by this condition, you may not be aware of any such contact by your provider. This situation may lead to the cancellation of your student visa.
- If you are a student visa holder under 18 years of age, who is neither being accompanied nor staying with a relative who is at least 21 years of age, you must not change your accommodation, support and general welfare arrangements without the written approval of your education provider. If you want to change your accommodation and welfare arrangements to live with a parent, a person who has custody of you, or a relative who is already the holder of a student guardian visa, you must lodge form 157N Nomination of a student guardian at the nearest office of the department. Further information can be found on the information sheet Applying for a student guardian visa on the department's website.
- You must continue to be a person who would satisfy the primary or secondary criteria, as the case requires, for the grant of the visa.

Any breach of a student visa condition may result in cancellation of your visa.

¹ Except in extremely limited circumstances which are outside your control, or to engage Australia's protection obligation under the 1951 UN convention relating to the status of refugees.

Permission to work

When applying for your student visa, you are required to provide evidence of financial capacity to support your period of stay in Australia. Permission to work is intended to provide you with an enriched cultural and social experience in Australia. You should not rely on work to fund your studies.

From April 2008, all student Subclass 570–576 visas include permission to work as part of the initial student visa grant.

If you and your family members are granted student visas you will be allowed to work up to 40 hours per fortnight once your course has commenced. Neither you nor your family members may commence work until the principal visa holder has commenced studying.

While the course you are studying is in session you cannot work more than 40 hours per fortnight. No work limits apply during recognised periods of vacation offered by your education provider. Family members will be allowed to work up to 40 hours per fortnight throughout the year.

Holders of a Postgraduate Research (subclass 574) visa who have commenced their Masters by research or Doctorate course will have unrestricted permission to work. If you hold a subclass 573, 574, or 576 visa and commence studying for the award of a masters or doctorate course your family members will have unrestricted permission to work.

The limit on work hours is strictly enforced by the department.

If you have any concerns about your pay and conditions, or other issues at work, you can contact the Fair Work Ombudsman (all state and territories except Western Australia).

See: <http://www.fwo.gov.au/>

Telephone: Wageline on 1300 655 266 (Western Australia only).

Members of your family unit

A member of the family unit is your partner (spouse or de facto) or a dependent child of you or your partner who is not married, not in a de facto relationship and who has not turned 18.

Members of your family unit may apply for a student (Subclass 570–576) visa to live with you in Australia as your family unit members. They can apply at the same time as you, or after you have arrived in Australia. However, your family members cannot be granted a student visa if your application is subject to Assessment Level 3, 4 or 5 and your proposed course of study is 12 months or less in duration.

All members of your family unit must be declared on your application whether or not they intend to travel to Australia at any time. A member who is not declared will not be eligible for entry to Australia as your family unit member, except for a person who becomes a member after your application was decided. A person who becomes a member after you lodged your application and before it is decided is eligible for entry provided you inform the department in writing of that member's personal particulars and provide evidence of their relationship to you.

Periods of stay granted to members of your family unit will generally be the same as your period of stay. Your family members should ensure they always hold a valid visa while in Australia.

Your partner will have a condition on their visa that limits their period of study in Australia to a maximum of 3 months. If your partner wants to undertake a course of study beyond this period they must apply for a student visa in their own right. This application for change of status from family unit member to student may be made in Australia.

A school-age family unit member (one who has turned five but has not turned 18 years of age) who will live with you in Australia is expected to attend school in Australia. You must provide evidence of enrolment for them if you want them to be granted a student visa as a family unit member. In most cases, public and private schools charge fees for family unit members of student visa holders. You should check the exact fees with the school where your family unit member will be studying. You are responsible for their education costs in Australia.

How to lodge your application

If you are applying in Australia you may lodge your application in person, by mail or electronically through the department's website. Electronic lodgement through the department's website is the preferred method of lodgement.

See: www.immi.gov.au/e_visa/

Applying in person

In some states or territories in Australia you may need to make an appointment to lodge your application. Please telephone the department on 131 881 for advice about whether you need an appointment. If you need an appointment you will be able to make one when you telephone.

Complete application form 157A Application for a student visa and lodge it with your supporting documentation at an appropriate Australian Government office if you are applying outside Australia, or at any office of the department before your current visa expires if you are entitled to apply in Australia.

Electronic student visa

Some people are eligible to apply through the department's website for an electronic student visa. Eligibility is restricted to the following:

- in Australia:
 - a student visa holder seeking permission to work
 - a student seeking a further student visa
 - Assessment Level 1 applicant seeking to apply for a student visa (for example you are in Australia on a visa other than a student visa).
- outside Australia, all Assessment Level 1 students are eligible to apply for a student visa on the internet.

See: www.immi.gov.au/e_visa/students.htm

Assessment Level 2–4 students should also check the department's website to see if they are eligible.

Lodgement of applications by citizens of the People's Republic of China (PRC), Pakistan and Afghanistan

You must send your application to one of the addresses below if you are applying outside Australia and you either:

- hold a passport for the PRC (excluding Special Administrative Regions), and are normally resident in the PRC or New Zealand
- hold a Pakistani passport and are normally resident in Pakistan or New Zealand
- hold an Afghani passport and are normally resident in Afghanistan, Pakistan or New Zealand.

Applications lodged at an Australian Embassy in mainland China or New Zealand cannot be accepted.

Residential address

You must provide the address where you intend to live while your application is being dealt with. Failure to give a residential address will result in your application being invalid. A post office box address will not be accepted as a residential address.

Consent to communicate electronically

The department may use a range of means to communicate with you. However, electronic means such as fax or e-mail will only be used if you indicate your agreement to receiving communication in this way.

To process your application the department may need to communicate with you about sensitive information, for example, health, police checks, financial viability and personal relationships. Electronic communications, unless adequately encrypted, are not secure and may be viewed by others or interfered with. If you agree to the department communicating with you by electronic means, the details you provide will only be used by the department for the purpose for which you have provided them, unless there is a legal obligation or necessity to use them for another purpose, or you have consented to use for another purpose. They will not be added to any mailing list.

The Australian Government accepts no responsibility for the security or integrity of any information sent to the department over the internet or by other electronic means.

Visa Application Charge

You are required to pay the Visa Application Charge, unless you are sponsored by the Commonwealth of Australia or participating in a formal secondary exchange program. Under some circumstances you may not be required to pay a Visa Application Charge if your education provider ceased to offer your course. Check the amount of this charge with your nearest office of the department or Australian Government office. The charge is also listed in form 990i Charges which is available from the department's website.

See: www.immi.gov.au/allforms/

Fees may be subject to adjustment at any time. Visa Application Charges may be subject to adjustment on 1 July each year. This may increase the cost of a visa.

Payment must accompany your application and is generally not refunded if the application is unsuccessful.

Method of payment

In Australia

To make a payment, please pay by credit card, debit card, bank cheque or money order made payable to the Department of Immigration and Citizenship. Debit card and credit card are the preferred methods of payment.

Outside Australia

Before making a payment outside Australia, please check with the Australian Government office where you intend to lodge your application as to what methods of payment and currencies they can accept and to whom the payment should be made payable.

Supporting documents you need to provide with your application

You must provide all of the documentation needed to support your application (certified or notarised copies) and declare in your application form that you have attached all the required documents.

'Certified copies' means copies authorised or stamped as being true copies of the originals by a person or agency recognised by the law of your country to perform such functions. If you are in Australia, copies may be certified by a Justice of the Peace, a Commissioner for Declarations or a person before whom a statutory declaration may be made under the Statutory Declarations Act 1959.

The documentation required may vary depending on your assessment level and the education sector of your main course of study. To find out what documents you need to provide, refer to the department's website for the subclass applicable to you.

English translations

Documents in languages other than English must be accompanied by an English translation. If you are applying in Australia, the translator must be accredited by the National Accreditation Authority for Translators and Interpreters (NAATI). Translating and Interpreting Service (TIS) translators are NAATI-accredited.

Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC)

Generally, you must have acceptable health insurance cover by paying the OSHC for yourself and accompanying family unit members for the proposed duration of your visa. Norwegian students with Norwegian National Insurance Scheme cover and Swedish students with international cover arranged through the National Board of Student Aid (CSN) are covered and do not need to take up OSHC. Belgian students are covered by a Reciprocal Health Care Agreement and do not need to take up OSHC.

Your student visa will be valid for the same period as your OSHC policy to ensure that you have OSHC for the entire period you are in Australia.

To arrange your OSHC, you can:

- ask your education provider to organise your health insurance cover on your behalf; or
- if your education provider cannot assist you, select an approved OSHC provider yourself and pay the insurance. You must provide the office processing your visa with a receipt of payment of the OSHC fee or other evidence that you are covered by OSHC before your student visa can be granted.

Information about OSHC providers is available from the internet.

See: www.health.gov.au

Re-entry to Australia

A student visa permits multiple entries to Australia. If you or members of your family unit are planning to leave and return to Australia during the period of your study, you and your family members should ensure that you re-enter Australia before the expiry of your visa. If you seek to re-enter Australia after your student visa has expired, you will need to apply for a new student visa overseas, pay the Visa Application Charge and meet visa requirements current at the time.

Applications for a further student visa in Australia

If you want to extend your stay in Australia to complete your current course or to enrol in a new course, you should apply for a new student visa before your current student visa or another visa you hold expires. You may not be granted a new student visa if you hold a student visa with a 'no further stay' condition (see Student visa conditions on page 3).

Withdrawal of application

You can withdraw your application in writing at any time before a decision is made. Any charges that you paid at the time you lodged your application are usually non-refundable.

If you applied for a student visa in Australia, you were most likely granted a bridging visa at the time you made your application. If you withdraw your application, that bridging visa will cease to be in effect 28 days after the date of withdrawal. As a result, you will become an unlawful non-citizen 28 days after the withdrawal if you have not departed Australia within that time and you do not hold another valid visa.

Review rights

If you apply for a student visa in Australia and you are refused the visa, you may apply for a review of the decision. You will be notified of your review rights in writing and the time limits for lodging such an appeal.
